GL11 6EF

Established in the early 1900's, the pub is famous for its large selection of draught ciders and is two times winner of the Gloucestershire cider pub of the year award.

We are a family, dog and horse friendly pub. Our expansive garden which was featured in The Sunday Times "Top 10 Pub Gardens" list, is an ideal spot to enjoy the sunshine and take in the views of Waterley Bottoms whilst relaxing with your favourite drink and a bite to eat. In the winter the lounge bar with its warming cast iron log burner offers a comfortable, homely environment, perfect for relaxing or dining.

Berkeley in Saxon times minted coins and in C15th was a thriving inland port for coal and salt barges. The town itself, on a hillock dominated by the huge Norman Berkeley Castle (open to the public), was often surrounded by water when the River Severn broke its banks. Flood barriers were built in the 1900's to stop this.

Berkeley town has changed little over 3 centuries, most buildings being built before 1840. Dr Edward Jenner's Museum (his Chantry House) displays his work as the pioneer of the vaccination procedure.
